Plans Go Forward For Registration Of All Canadians

BOTH POLITICAL PARTIES

MUST REGISTER

Rev. Capt. Mesley, King township, Liberal, has been appointed registrar, and J. Bruce McKinnon, Roche's Point, Conservative, has been appointed assistant registrar, for North York, for the registration of all men and women 16 years of age and over.

Plans for the registration were made known by Hon. James G. Gardiner, minister of national war services, in the house of commons. It is hoped that registration will be completed by the end of August.

Members of parliament have nominated registrars and assistant registrars in their constituencies, and they in turn will appoint deputy-registrars in all polling subdivisions. The deputy-registrars will post notices of registration as soon as the dates are fixed and will secure registration booths.

All persons are required to attend registration booths on the given dates, to answer questions (18 for men, 19 for women, or a lot more than that when you count all the sub-questions) put to them by the deputy-registrars. Answers will be written on registration cards. In cases where a person is ill or incapacitated the deputy-registrar may send an assistant to complete the registration at that person's home.

If a person fails to register, he or she will be punished by a fine of $200 or imprisonment for three months or both, with an additional penalty of $10 a day for each day elapsing between the close of registration and the person's registration or trial.

A fine of $100 is provided for refusal to answer any registration question, a fine of $200 or three months' imprisonment or both for giving misleading answers, and a fine of $200 and imprisonment for any person advising any citizen to refuse or omit to comply with the regulations or impeding any officer in carrying out the regulations.

All persons will be given registration certificates, which they will have to carry with them at all times. Penalties are provided for refusal or failure to produce certificates on demand. Other penalties are provided by the Registration Act.

In the words of Hon. James G. Gardiner, registration of all the people of Canada will serve two purposes, "the first one being to get a complete picture of the conditions existing with respect to man-power and woman-power in Canada today, with regard to where they are, their background and their condition of health. All information of that kind would be required, and it will be made available not only to the department of national defence, but to all departments of government—old age pensions, health, and so on. This information can be used for different purposes in connection with the care of our population during a period of war, and perhaps afterwards."

"The other purpose is the one which has been outlined, namely that of obtaining registration of those who are available for training in Canada immediately and throughout the war period."

Indications are that voluntary organizations will be set up in each constituency, in addition to officials appointed by the government, to help carry out the task of registration.

SCOUTS MAKE WAY FOR CUBS AT I. G. CAMP

BOYS HAVE INTERESTING
TIME AT ISLAND GROVE
CAMP

MAKE TRIP TO ISLAND

Thirty-three Newmarket Wolf Cubs went into camp at Island Grove on Wednesday.

Newmarket's 2nd troop of Boy Scouts broke up camp at Island Grove yesterday, and the 2nd Newmarket Wolf Cub pack went into camp. The incoming Cubs were led by Cubmaster Jack Hamilton.

The Scout camp was an undoubted success. Assisting Scoutmaster B. A. Budd were Assistant Jack Malcolm, John Hunter, troop leader, Ron Bremner, University of Toronto student, who makes a hobby of the study of birds, and Mr. and Mrs. Chas. Hays, camp cooks, who prepared appetizing meals.

A typical day at camp began with reveille at 7 a.m., followed by a dip in the lake and breakfast at 8. Then came the rolling up of beds and the tidying of tents, with flag-break at 9.

A duty patrol washed the dishes, got the water, and inspected the camp.

Formal tent inspection followed, and blankets were spread out in front of the tents. From 10 to 11:30 was study and instruction period, followed by half an hour of leisure and a dip at 12.

Dinner came at 1 p.m. The boys set their own places, then marched in and sang the grace. Three boys were assigned as waiters. All the boys waited until the meal period was over before leaving the table.

There was a rest-period from 1:30 to 3 p.m. and instruction from 3 to 4. Games followed from 4 to 5 o'clock, with a dip at 5:30.

Supper was at 6 p.m. followed by another half-hour rest period. At 7 the boys took in their blankets, made their beds and tidied the tents for the night.

At sundown there was flag-lowering, with a camp-fire, singing and music at 9:30. At 10 the boys prepared for bed, and at 10:30 lights were out.

On Sunday the boys paraded to church at Island Grove, and another day camp routine was broken with a trip to Snake Island, across from Island Grove. The boys had dinner there, ate a water-melon brought up by Dr. G. E. Case, and successfully tried flag-signalling across the channel.

On Tuesday evening the big camp-night took place and the final campfire. Every other day there was a visit from one of the town doctors. Two boys were sent home at one point, but returned in a couple of days with a clean bill of health.

There were 22 persons in the camp including Scouts and staff.

DORA PEMBERTON DIES IN FIFTEENTH YEAR

Following a six months illness, Dora Marie Pemberton, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jas. Pemberton, died at York county hospital early Saturday morning, as a result of heart trouble.

Surviving besides her parents and a twin brother, Delbert, are two other brothers, Harold and Percy, and two sisters, Margaret (Mrs. Harry Glenn) and Lois.

The funeral service was held from the Salvation Army Hall on Monday, and was conducted by Capt. Ernest Falle, assisted by Major Falle and Adjutant S. G. Boulton, former adjutant here.

IT'S PRETTY NEARLY AIRTIGHT BASEBALL THAT TOWN LEAGUE TEAMS ARE PLAYING THESE DAYS

Before an enthusiastic audience at the fair grounds on Tuesday evening the Sons of England took the bugle band into camp by a 2-0 score, in a really hard-fought hardball game.

In the first inning, Fairey, the first man up for the buglers, rapped a double, after Frank Boyd had struck out. Dobbie got on base on Williamson's error but Fairey was caught trying to make third. This was the best scoring chance the buglers had during the game.

The Sons of England got their two runs in the second on an infield hit by Barker, who promptly stole second. Then Langton got on first on Fairey's error. Bill VanZant scored them both by driving a grounder between Gunn and Andrews.

This was the only scoring chance the Sons of England had during the game. Only Williamson reached first after this and that was on Ruddock's error.

The bugle band had a great scoring chance in the sixth but they failed to score a run.

Fairey, the first man up, cracked out his second double of the game, Boyd struck out, Dobbie got a base on balls and Gunn got on first on an error. This loaded the bases, with one out, but Williamson struck out and Andrews flied out to A. Evans in centre field.

Stan Evans, on the mound for Sons of England, allowed three hits, while he struck out 11 batters, thus bringing his strikeout total for five games to 57.

Lusted, pitching for the bugle band, allowed only two hits, both of these being ground balls which rolled through the infield, but his support failed him in the pinches.

It was do or die for the buglers, who now have only a very slight chance of getting in the play-offs.

The next game will be on Friday evening when those old rivals, the Davis Leather and Office Specialty, meet. The leathermen already have one victory over the Specialty but the Specialty boys are out to get revenge in this game.

CHURCH UNION FOR SUMMER IS INSPIRATION, DECLARES PASTOR

Union for July and August of the United and Christian churches "is an inspiration, now and when it was conceived in the first place," Rev. Arthur Greer, pastor of the Christian church, said at a united service on Sunday morning.

"In summer-time we are wont to meet with such small groups that it is discouraging," Mr. Greer declared. "Under this arrangement we have a good congregation every Sunday. It is encouraging for both the minister and the people, and the minister is encouraged to put in hours of study in preparation."

Mr. Greer preached a "prophetic" sermon on when war was would cease. In the course of his remarks he said: "Can you imagine Hitler willing to be saved? And there are a lot of people like Hitler—and they're not all in Germany—some of them in Newmarket, who do not will to be saved."

Among the most enthusiastic of those who attended the Free Methodist church camp meeting held last week at Holland Landing park was Mrs. Robert Graves, Millard Ave.

Mrs. Graves is 84 years of age. The fact that she had been ill in bed the previous week still did not dissuade her from spending the week living in a tent and enjoying the meetings. She returned home on Monday.

WIN DECISION OVER HILLERS

Newmarket Redmen eked out a 6-5 decision over Richmond Hill on Monday night at the local ball park.

Bennett pitched good ball up to the fourth inning but blew up temporarily and the Redmen collected five runs on hits by Trivett, Gibney, Hilton, Niles, Tomblinson, and Cain, helped by two errors by the Hillers.

Trivett opened up with a single and went to second on a single by Gibney. Bob Peters lined a hit to shortstop, Cochrane caught Trivett going from second to third. Then Hilton doubled to clear the bases, and went to third on an error by the catcher.

VanZant was on an error by the Hillers' shortstop and Hilton scored on the play. Then Niles and Tomblinson doubled to knock in two more runs, Cain singled, and Trivett made the last out at first. This, coupled with one run in the first was Newmarket's total scoring.

Richmond Hill, with one run in the second inning, three in the third, and one more in the fourth, made it a close game. A belated rally in the last inning just failed to produce the tying run. J. Crean singled and stole second base. Cochrane was thrown out at first and Crean went to third base. Then Niles bore down on the next two batters, Saul struck out and Bennett popped to Jack Luck, ending the game.

Wes Niles pitched a steady game for the Redmen, backed by hard hitting from the whole team. The fielding of Jack Luck also drew several rounds of applause from the crowd. Bennett's pitching and Saul's home run in the third inning were the highlights from the Hillers' standpoint.

Newmarket: C. VanZant c, W. Niles p, R. Peters 1b, J. Luck 2b, Hilton ss, Trivett 3b, Tomblinson lf, H. Cain cf, and H. Gibney rf. Richmond Hill: Ecklin c, Bennett p, Young 1b, Saul 2b, Cochrane ss, O'Dell 3b, Brockbank lf, J. Crean cf, and A. Crean rf.

Heavy grain crops are in prospect, according to the appearance of the fields.

Some grain is down as the result of storms, but not any substantial amount, according to W. M. Cockburn, York county agricultural representative, Newmarket. Grain that is down does not mean a total loss, but doesn't develop like the standing grain, he said.

Some of the grain appears ready for cutting now, and operations will be starting immediately. The binder is already going on one or two farms in the southern part of the county.

Glover And Gracey Pitching Duel Ends In 4-4 Deadlock

BARRIE STAGES RALLY IN FIFTH TO TIE GAME AND END SCORING

GLOVER STARS

(By Barrie Examiner)

Barrie Collegians and Newmarket Redmen battled to a 4-4 tie as they clashed at Shear Park, Tuesday night, in the last scheduled home game for Barrie in the county softball association before the playoffs commence.

It was quite a southpaw pitchers' duel, Don Glover pitching for the Redmen and Ivan Gracey for the Collegians. Glover yielded eight hits, Gracey just six. Glover fanned three, walked three. Gracey fanned five, walked two. It was the first time the veteran Gracey, manager of the Barrie nine started a game this season, although he had relieved in one.

After having Harry Couse start 13 straight games, Gracey decided to give the big blond chucker from Cookstown a rest to keep his arm fresh for the playoffs. Couse eventually got in the game as a pinch hitter and right fielder in the fifth.

In the fourth it looked as if Gracey was done and Couse would have to go to work on the mound. Burly Arnold Tomblinson first up, smashed a long homer to right. Herbie Cain and Bill Bulmer followed with two-baggies. Taylor muffed Gibney's high fly behind second. Peters went out but Hilton's infield tap scored Gibney with the fourth run. Burkholder singled but from then on Gracey tightened up and retired the side. Newmarket got all their runs in that stanza.

In the first three frames Gracey allowed just one hit, similarly in the last three, and in those six innings was not very close to being scored on. It was a nice pitching effort and he deserved a victory for his first start.

Earl Marshall and Harold Laking had two hits each for Barrie. Barrie scored two in the second on singles by Laking and Coulson, plus a walk to Goring.

In the fifth, down two runs, Barrie staged a determined rally which tied the count but fell just short of victory. Couse, batting for Taylor, walked. There followed hits by Marshall and Gracey, plus a double by Steve Hines. Two runs came in. Two were left on bases when Hilton made a beautiful stop and throw to nail Laking's hard smash to short. That saved the game then and there for Glover and his Redmen.

Queen's York Rangers Stop Recruiting, Camp Monday

NEWMARKET BANDSMEN JOIN REGIMENTAL BUGLE BAND

Queen's York Rangers have stopped recruiting, having reached 750 enlisted. In the nature of an experiment, "C" company has two rural and one urban platoon.

Half a dozen Newmarket boys, trained with the R. S. A. bugle band, are now in the regimental bugle band, according to Capt. D. O. Mungovan, Newmarket.

Because of the number, boys who are not able to go to camp will have to be struck off strength.

There will be a parade this Friday night. The regiment goes to Niagara camp on Monday morning.

Over 30 Newmarket boys and half a dozen former Newmarket boys have joined the unit. Dr. J. G. Cock, Newmarket, helped to examine the recruits.

LOIS MANNING'S HOMER BRINGS HOME FOUR RUNS

Newmarket girls defeated Unionville at Aurora on Tuesday evening 7-6 in an exhibition game and tied the same team last evening at Unionville 10-10 in a league fixture.

The end of the seventh inning found the two teams tied 10-10 last night, and it was decided to play an extra inning. Newmarket went to bat first, and scored two runs, only to have the umpire call the game for darkness without letting Unionville go to bat.

Alex. Webster lost another argument with the umpire. He has been doing it for over 20 years.

With one run in the first inning and one in the third, Newmarket went into the fourth inning two runs behind. Unionville had garnered three in the first and one in the third.

Webster's girls fitted the bases and then Lois Manning picked up the hickory stick. What a hit! Lois hit the ball over the fielders' heads for a home run. Newmarket got five runs in this inning.

Unionville came back with three runs, to tie the score, and one in the fifth and one in the sixth. Newmarket doing nothing. Three runs in the seventh gave Newmarket the lead, but the southpaw scored one in their half to tie the score at 10-10.

Newmarket lacked Mary Osborne at third. She was ably replaced by second-string pitcher Ruby Chan.

Brown was put in to hit for Raymond in the first of the seventh. She singled, driving in a run, and later bringing in the tying run herself.

Newmarket clet players were Beckett 2b, Doane c, Andrews c, Manning cf, McCannan p, Chant 3b, Hisey rf, Phil Osborne ss, Mary Raymond lf.

On Tuesday evening the girls overcame a four-run start in the first inning by Unionville to win by a 7-6 score. Chant and Watson were the battery, against Miller and Vasil for Unionville. The next game is next Wednesday at Agincourt.

TWO BROTHERS ARE NOW HORS DE COMBAT

Misfortune hit twice at the Walter Rose farm on the fourth concession of East Gwillimbury last week.

Trying to stop a team of horses running away with a half-loaded rack of hay, Walter Rose was trampled on, suffering head and back injuries and a broken ankle.

His brother, Carl Rose, Newmarket, out to help out his brother, while handling a team of horses, tripped and sprained his ankle.

The two brothers were similarly incapacitated in two almost simultaneous accidents 12 years ago.

BURMA ROAD

Closing by Britain of the "Burma road" for war supplies to China may be another Munich, it has been suggested. That does not clearly condemn or endorse, for Chamberlain's Munich agreement some think was wise and some think was foolish. We believe that Mr. Churchill used the word "misgiving" in announcing the agreement reached with Japan for cutting off China's arm supplies for three months. There is no doubt but that the British government had a particularly unpleasant dilemma to resolve.

On the one hand, if Britain refused to cut off the supply of arms to China, there was the possibility of Japan embarrassing even further British residents in China, attacking British-held Hong-Kong and possibly entering the war against Britain. It was also said that Australia influenced the decision in favor of concessions to Japan.

On the other hand, if Britain acceded to Japanese demands that the Burma road should be blocked it was said that Britain was breaking treaty obligations to China. There was the possibility of incurring ill-will in the United States. Britain would be clearly helping an aggressor, just as ruthless in China as the aggressor which Britain was fighting in Europe.

More than that, yielding to Japanese demands would probably be interpreted as weakness on the part of Britain. As a result Japan would probably prepare new demands, and then Britain might lack the help of China in resisting them. Probably Japan would be able to force a settlement of the war with China and then she would be ready for a new adventure.

Yes, it was the Munich dilemma all over again. Mr. Churchill, with whom probably rested the final decision, showed by his action that he approved what Mr. Chamberlain had done at Munich. Britain again apparently breaks treaty obligations, but she does it reluctantly. Facing "total" war, and an aggressor that respects no obligations or agreements whatever, Britain is forced to seek friendship with aggressor Russia and to yield to the demands of ruthless aggressor Japan.

Canadians and Americans cannot throw stones, for we are busy shipping, for the sake of a few dollars, nickel and iron to Japan to destroy the helpless Chinese people, just as we supplied nickel and iron to Germany and Italy while they were preparing for war against us.

In the British decision in the far east there is too, we suspect, the thought that Britain built her empire by force of arms in an earlier day and that if the age of empires is not over possibly others have the right to build them too. The determining thought, however, must be that when the Allies have brought Germany to earth they will be strong enough to usher in a new and better attempt at world government which will put at an end forever the military or naval domination of any one country, with its fearful cost to dominators and dominated. In other words, if Britain and her allies defeat Germany, totalitarianism will become out of date in the far east too as well as Europe.

LOOKING FOR SIGNS

If we had had the foresight to have a look at the oats last year, to make sure that there was no "B" on the leaves, we would be rushing out this year to find the letter which so many have now proclaimed. Lacking a 1939 background, however, as a connoisseur of oats (a Scotch-traditioned mother did rear the present writer on oatmeal porridge, and bought her oatmeal by the barrel too!) in the field, there would not be much point in our investigating this year's oat fields. As it is, we can't help suspecting that what is to be found on the oat leaves this year might also have been found last year.

We had an interesting experience last weekend. Returning home from Lake Scugog, and being in the neighborhood of Port Perry, we passed an Indian and his wife on the road and stopped to chat with them. They were on their way to an oat field to see if they could find "B.V." on the leaves. They did not know whether the letters stood for "British Victory" or "Blessed Virgin," they told us. Incidentally, the Indian, learning that we were Newmarket people, asked if we knew the family of the late George Peppiatt. The Indian, Johnson Potash, by name, had served overseas with him during the last war.

The Georgetown Herald has quite a story on this subject of victory omens—in fact, two of them. The first concerns a patriotic hen who not only cackles but does something to cackle about. "Newspapers throughout Canada have been filled with items about farmers finding the letter 'B' on their oats. Last week we told you of one who found 'B V' plainly evident. Now we hear of Jacob Sittler, of St. Jacobs, who found a hen's egg with a perfect raised capital 'B' on the shell."

The second story purports to do some debunking. "Lemuel McGuck, Herald correspondent at Neplustula in Nonpareil township, has sent us a signed story claiming to have discovered two fields of oats which do not have letter 'B' on leaf. McGuck says he is now on the trail of a field of barley which has not letters V or W on leaves."

"Inasmuch as this is the correspondent who brought down considerable censure on local heads a few years ago, by reporting the presence of an Oogugestapo (or whatever it was) in Factory Creek, we hesitate to endorse the recent dispatch. We are having the facts investigated and hope to have the correct version (one way or the other) next week."

There you are. You may take the Latin version, or you may wait a week for the Georgetown editor to give either the Oogu or Gestapo version.

If any of our readers should find the letters "B. V. D." on their grain leaves, we should regard that as news, prophetic of what Hitler is likely to have left by the time this war is over. Please bring the leaves to our office.

CONSCRIPTION OF INDUSTRY?

"It's the poor what 'elps the poor!" The town of Midland, until recently a bankrupt municipality, has offered to help out the poor old dominion government (budgeting this year for a deficit of $800,000,000) by housing in Midland tourist camps 500 men at little or no cost to the government. Such a spontaneous offer makes it evident that there is a generous admixture of patriotism in Midland's plea for the use of idle shipyards and industrial plants for war purposes.

Incidentally, isn't it scandalous that there should be idle premises, used for the manufacture of munitions in the last war, while the government is spending money like water to build new plants, not so far away, in the wide open spaces, where it is also necessary to build houses for the prospective employees? Carpenters are receiving as high as $12 and even $13 a day to work on one of these projects, we are informed. Of course, for all we know to the contrary, the wage rate may be a mere 90 cents an hour, and the high wage the result of working a farmer's day. But that reminds us that our farmers aren't receiving $12 a day, and our soldiers, who too sometimes work 16 hours a day, hardly make that much, even when one adds to the $1.30 a day an allowance for board and clothing and money paid to dependents. We can't believe that using the existing plants would not be more economical than building new plants and new towns. What was the use of the mobilization of resources bill, if it can't be used to conscript or expropriate the premises of a private individual who, it is said, can't be bothered with a small-potato war contract?

POLITICIANS AND THEIR CRITICS

Sometimes newspaper editors draw generously from the columns of their contemporaries when setting forth their journal's reaction to the world of men and things. Sometimes an editorial is reprinted without credit given to the original writer. Sometimes an editorial is re-written. It may be re-written recognizably or beyond recognition. We know of a rather sensible arrangement between the editor of a Peel county newspaper and the editor of a Durham county newspaper whereby either may use holus-bolus, without acknowledgement and without offence, an editorial from the other's columns. When similar editorials appear simultaneously in two newspapers however, that is more interesting.

Last week we were feeling rather fed up with Mr. Mackenzie King, whose virtues we have often pointed out, and we sat down and told our readers all about it. As editor of a weekly newspaper, you know, the editor can sit down and write honestly what he thinks, and when he writes about Mr. King, who is not one of his subscribers, he may be reasonably sure that Mr. King will not have the embarrassment of reading the article of praise or censure. That is not to say that a clipping-service and a secretary do not keep Mr. King reasonably well informed as to how the editorial score throughout the country goes for or against him. Mr. King does keep in touch with public opinion. Perhaps that is Mr. Brockington's $13,000 job, keeping Mr. King's ear to the ground. More we think of it, the more we think we may be right. When we were in Ottawa in the spring with a group of weekly editors, we sat in at a conference with Mr. Brockington when he quizzed various members of our group as to public opinion throughout the country on one or two war topics.

Let's get back. We wrote an editorial about Mr. King last week. A remarkably similar editorial appeared in another independent weekly the same week. Both this weekly and the other weekly, the Bowmanville Statesman, used to be Liberal party organs with a capital L. The editor of the Bowmanville Statesman was in a rather peculiar position in the last election. In spite of the Liberal traditions of his newspaper, and Liberal forbears, he felt that national government was the right idea and that, cost what it might, he should put his newspaper behind it. He did, but his wife was president of the local women's Liberal organization and she worked as hard for the Liberals as the editor worked for the Manionites, with the result that the Liberals won. The morning after the election sympathetic friends placed trepe on the Statesman's office door.

HEAD WAITER

Editor George James of the Canadian Statesman, Bowmanville, tells of an "embarrassing" encounter a few years ago with "the popular and brilliant young premier of the bluenose province." Angus L. Macdonald, now Canada's minister of naval defence. At a banquet at the Nova Scotia hotel, in Halifax, Mr. James approached Mr. Macdonald "thinking he was the head waiter." "An apology was unnecessary, as the good-natured premier enjoyed the mistake in identity."

The editor of The Era recalls with pleasure an occasion when Mr. Macdonald really was the head waiter. It was at Mr. Macdonald's home in Halifax when he entertained for afternoon tea, as was his annual custom, the graduating class in law at Dalhousie University away back in 1928. For three years the writer of these columns sat daily under Mr. Macdonald, who was one of three full-time teachers on the staff of the school. Another of the three teachers of that time was John E. Read, the dean, a brilliant student of the law, who for a good many years has been legal adviser to the department of external affairs at Ottawa but whose name, as a consequence of the nature of his duties, is seldom seen in the press. If we remember aright, we did see his name mentioned in connection with the "I'm Alone" case of some few years ago. The third teacher of that day is now head of a department in a large western United States law school.

Thus do one's teachers make good. From one form of public service, teaching, they go to another public service. They are waiters, if you like, and "head waiter" isn't a bad description of a premier, Mr. Editor of the Canadian Statesman!

The Common Round

HOMESICKNESS

By Isabel Inglis Colville

I was listening this morning to a male quartet singing "The Hills of Home," which tells of a prairie homemaker, sick for the sight of the hills she had once known, and I began to wonder just what induced, homesickness in people, apart altogether from the human associations.

In songs and books it is nearly always mountains and the sea or rivers, which seem to induce an almost unbearable longing in those separated from them.

There are times, after rain, when a fresh brisk breeze is blowing, that I shut my eyes and see again the great swift flood of the St. Lawrence, and such a feeling of longing comes over me, that it amounts almost to physical pain; and the strange thing about such a longing is that it doesn't lessen, but rather increases with time.

A river is so satisfying; over its blue-green, white tipped waves, sail the great ships of commerce, loaded with wheat and lumber, and all sorts of cargoes, bound for ports near and far, and the men "who go down to the sea in ships" seem to be in a class by themselves. They are like riders of a bucking horse, for they never know what their undulating highway has in store for them, and whether sailing beneath sun or moon on placid waters, or climbing the crest of tall seas, or even navigating a tiresome canal, they must always be on guard, for they serve an unpredictable mistress.

And yet, in spite of danger and ennu, and hardships, it seems that "once a sailor, always a sailor," is true of the great majority of seamen, and we, to whom even the sight of the waters we love, is like a tonic, can understand a little of the lure of the rivers and sea to those who ride them habitually.

The lure of the mountains is something of a closed book to me, because I have no mountain friends—only a bowing acquaintance with a few hills, and they never draw me—perhaps because I can't climb even a step-ladder without feeling dizzy. But mountain, lake or sea, or little stream, they all induce homesickness in those who have loved and lost them.

Listen to this—
"I am dreaming of the homeland
And the light upon the hills,
And the magic of the mountains
And the music of the hills."

Premier Mackenzie King last week defended the appointment of Leonard W. Brockington as recorder of Canada's war effort at a salary of $9,000, plus $12 per day living allowance. Mr. King said that Mr. Brockington was not acting as an historian but as a confidential adviser to himself.

and in another song, "The little streams of Duna," "the little hills of Duna, call me home."

And thinking of the homesickness which, I suppose, attacks each one of us, who have left surroundings we love, I have felt pangs of pity for all those, who through Herr Hitler's machinations, have been compelled to leave the homes they loved, homes where perhaps their forefathers for generations have tilled the soil and fished in the streams, or lived in some old chateau, with a storied past.

What must be the anguish of those uprooted from all safe, sane, familiar and intimate things, and plunged—many of them penniless—into a world which is steadily being divided into so many armed camps—each camp looking with jealous and wary eyes at all suspicious eyes at all its neighbors.

In the great stronghold that is now England, think of real sections of different nations all living on that one small island; all homesick—for can a Frenchman hear the Marcellaise—that great triumphant shout of the liberated, without tears? Can a Pole listen to a Chopin nocturne or a Paderewski minuet and not weep for the days when Poland could produce music like this? Can Czechs see Oxford or Cambridge and not think of the fate of their universities and those who taught there? Can the Dutch see the little English streams, and cottages and not think of their dykes and windmills?

There was a writer who said, "If I forgot thee, O Jerusalem, my right hand forget its cunning," and many a Norwegian thinks of his mountains and fjords, or a Finn thinking of his hills and streams feels just so—the terrible homesickness for familiar things, which is confined to no person, or people or race, but which is universal.

In the present crisis this nostalgia may be a leading factor in determining the future of the nations. The longing for any certain thing, presupposes a determination to secure it, and if this be true in small things, how much more so in the things which make up our lives—our homes with those we love about us; our churches, our schools, our work and our national life—for these, men will fight and die—and eventually attain!

MRS. SONGSPARROW IS HORRIFIED

BY RUTH DINGMAN HEBB

"It's warmish," sighed Hattie Nuthatch to her friend, Mrs. Woody Woodpecker. "Still, I always say that we birds should be thankful that our blood heat is higher than the humans' and so we don't feel the hot weather as much."

"Yes, and some of the birds seem to enjoy the warmth," Mrs. Pecker replied. "Just listen to that Robin carolling for all he's worth and it's the middle of the afternoon, too. That makes me think that perhaps we'll have some more rain."

"The birds are certainly beginning to quiet down in their singing, though, now that midsummer is here," said Hattie. "I was out in the woods this morning and it was really very quiet. By August nearly everyone will be silent, I suppose."

"Did you see all the birds flying in big flocks last evening?" asked Mrs. Pecker. "They must have been flocks of different kinds of blackbirds. It does seem early to be thinking about migrating, but of course they won't be really getting ready to go for some time yet. The Swallows are beginning to gather in the marshes now, too."

"Oh me, oh my, it makes me feel old when I realize that this is the last half of July again, and the children are quite grown up," mused Hattie.

"Hello, ladies," another voice broke in just then, and a little Songsparrow lady alighted on a bush nearby.

"Why, you look rather ruffled," Mrs. Songsparrow said Hattie kindly. "Has something happened?"

"No, but I got rather a fright," replied the Sparrow. "One of my young ones, was apparently right beside a Sparrow Hawk just now, and didn't even know who it was and was therefore taking absolutely no precautions—in fact, just sat near him for some time. I was horrified when I heard."

"Gracious goodness, and didn't the Hawk show any interest?" asked Mrs. Pecker.

"No, for the youngster finally decided to move away from there and then he came and told me about the funny bird he had seen," declared Mrs. Songsparrow shakily. "Just imagine! My poor innocent child!"

S. J. BOYD, MAYOR

Constable Alex. Ferguson stated that he had followed Whyte's car a mile into Aurora. On two different occasions the accused drove over the white line in the centre of the road, crowding cars coming in the opposite direction, Constable Ferguson stated. He said that Whyte was not intoxicated, although he had been drinking previously and admitted being sleepy. After an hour's delay in Aurora, to get a lunch, Whyte was in fit condition to drive again, the constable said.

John Campbell, Toronto, was fined $3 and costs for failure to produce a commercial operator's license.

Cawthra Brown, Newmarket, charged with failing to produce a commercial operator's license, was also fined $3 and costs.

Mr. Brown, in his own defence, stated that his son had been driving at the time the charge was laid. He himself had a cold and had asked his son to drive but had neglected to give him the license.

"He should have had a license," Magistrate German commented. "The law says he must have a permit, and he must obey the law."

Charles Cooper, Claremont, owner of a commercial vehicle loaded with lumber 4,500 lbs. in excess of the 10,000 lbs. allowed by his license, was fined $20 and costs. Cooper, in his own defence, said that his truck driver, who is accustomed to haul basswood to the Tottenham mill for him, did not realize that the green oak was so heavy.

William Collins, Toronto, pleaded guilty to a charge of careless driving and was fined $3 and costs. Constable Joseph Jardine stated that he saw Collins driving through Queensville, in "considerable" traffic, with three people in the front seat of the car and two sitting on the doors.

"A jolt would cause a very bad accident," he said. "I wouldn't give the driver of another car a chance."

Jack Porter, Toronto, charged with a similar offence was fined $5 and costs. Constable Archie Shadwick testified that he saw Porter driving on the Lake Shore Road with three men in the front seat of his car, five in the back and one lying on the running board. He said that traffic was very heavy.

Because he failed to remain at the scene of an accident at Willow Beach Sidney Fox, Toronto, was fined $10 and costs. Fox, who has a temporary instruction permit, stated that the traffic had been heavy and the lights from the cars blinded him.

He said that he had stopped about 300 yards from the accident but did not see the other car involved in the accident stop and so he drove on. He agreed to pay for damages done to the other car.

A charge of careless driving against E. Osborne, Toronto, which arose out of an accident on No. 11 highway near Holland Landing was dismissed in local police court, the case to be disposed of by civil court. Magistrate German stated that he was not satisfied that the evidence given was conclusive.

Martha King, Toronto, driver of the second car involved in the accident, testified that she had just driven through Holland Landing on her way to Toronto, when at the turn of the road her car was struck by another coming in the opposite direction and and driven by E. Osborne. She said that she had been going at about 40 miles an hour, well inside the centre mark on the road. At the time of the accident a baby asleep on the back seat of her car was thrown on the floor, she said.

Provincial Constable Alex. Ferguson, who examined the marks on the road after the accident, said that the skid marks, oil and mud showed definitely that Osborne's car had cut out to hit that of Mrs. King. Although Mrs. King testified that she was going at 40 miles an hour on the curve, he doubted it. At the time of the accident she said she was going 25 miles an hour, he testified.

Osborne, in his own defence, stated that he saw Mrs. King's car at about 300 feet ahead and that it "kept bearing to the left."

"I suggest that you could not see this car at 300 feet ahead," said Crown Attorney Harold Sanders.

"So do I," commented his worship.

Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Buckworth, Toronto, passengers in the Osborne car, said that Osborne was a "very careful driver." Mrs. Buckworth testified that she saw Mrs. King's car turn in and hit the car in which they were driving. Mr. Buckworth said that he heard his wife say, "Goodness, she is going to hit us."

BEAR, DEER, GOATS AND BEAVER, SNOW AND BEAUTY SEEN IN ROCKIES

(Newmarket was well represented at the recent Canadian Weekly Newspapers Association convention in Calgary. The Era was represented by Miss VanZant, and the Newmarket Express-Herald by Miss Ida Owens.)

BY MARGARET VANZANT

On June 29, I started out on my first journey to the great Canadian west. We went by C.N.R. route all the way to leave, but finally had to, and started our homeward journey, going by C.P.R. to Edmonton and then to Calgary to see the "stampede." I was rather disappointed in the "stampede." I guess I am not a westerner, so couldn't appreciate them roping little calves, throwing them to the ground and tying them up, and raking the horses with their spurs to make them buck. It might have been fun for some of the audience to watch, but my Calgary, going by train to Sarnia, and then taking the boat from there to Port Arthur. It was also my first trip of more than a day on water, and I didn't prove to be too bad a sailor, at least, I wasn't sea-sick.

We had to stop at Lime Island, which seemed quite deserted except for a couple of houses, for emergency fuel, and then proceeded on to Sault Ste. Marie. The locks were quite interesting, but we were not supposed to take pictures of them, although I don't suppose they would have bothered us if we had, as I had my camera out, and the guard did not attempt to shoot me, although I'm sure he saw me.

We arrived at Port Arthur about two hours late, and found our train waiting for us. At Saskatoon, a number of newspaper people, who had come that far by C.P.R. joined us. The car we got on here aroused our curiosity, and we were not satisfied until we had investigated everything but the kitchen. And the cook, seeing me poke my nose in everything else, asked me if I wouldn't like to see the kitchen. I did. It was small, but convenient. They informed us it was one of the newer cars, called "one-man cars," with the berths at one end and the kitchen and dining-room at the other. It was the last thing in comfort.

For the rest of the journey, we expressed our amazement at the lack of pavement in the towns. In the west and their general appearance and the distance one could see over the rolling prairies. We also saw quite a number of gophers, which we were told later by an Alberta farmer, were a curse to the west.

We didn't see an awful lot of Calgary during the three-day Canadian Weekly Newspapers Association convention (although I will have to confess that I attended only one business session), as it rained quite a bit during our stay.

The trip out to the Turner oil fields proved very interesting, and as we neared them, we could see flares dotting the fields. These flares, we were told, were burning up excess gasoline. Our car did not go by the main road, but turned off and went a back road, to avoid the dust, and as a result we saw several things that we would have otherwise missed, two of the most interesting being the Sarcee and Blackfoot Indian reserves, and a number of wild flowers growing along the roadside would have done any garden justice, as the roadside was a mass of blooms all the way.

Saturday morning found us aboard a C.P.R. train bound for Banff. After luncheon at Banff, we wandered around the grounds, and it was far more breath-taking than we imagined it would be from looking at pictures of it. We also had a swim in Sulphur Springs. At four o'clock the same afternoon, we started for Lake Louise, and here we were speechless. It is quite different from Banff, and no picture could do Lake Louise justice, for, if it were painted just as it is, you wouldn't believe a lake could be that green until you saw it.

Leaving Sunday morning, we arrived at the Columbia icefields around noon, and nothing would do until we walked out on the snow and as a result got our feet wet. It is about 65 miles from here to Jasper Park, which again proved to be different from the above mentioned places. Here, we saw deer, bears and mountain-goats, our first close glimpse of the last two, and beaver, and none seemed to be the least bit frightened of us.

We rode in open buses from Banff to Jasper Park and saw the forest fire that had closed the road shortly after it had been opened. The Rockies were for the most part awe-inspiring.

We were rather reluctant to sympathy went with the animals. We left Calgary for Regina, where, after a day's visit with some relatives, we caught the C.N.R. train for Port Arthur, where we caught the boat for Sarnia and then the train again for Toronto and the bus for home.

When Mr. Hebb first asked me if I would like to take this trip for The Era, I actually said I didn't think I would like to go, but I'm certainly glad he asked me the second time, else look what I would have missed.

MR. AND MRS. JAS. CLOSS
CELEBRATE 50 YEARS
WED. RECEIVE GIFTS

Next Saturday friends and relatives of one of Aurora's best known married couples will gather to do honor to Mr. and Mrs. John Closs, Mosley St., whose 50th wedding anniversary fell on July 25.

Both Mr. and Mrs. Closs come of old Scottish families and both were born at Maybole, Ayrshire, Scotland, in the famous district of Robert Bruce. Mr. Closs is now 70 and Mrs. Closs 68. Their marriage took place at Bridge St. station hotel, Glasgow, Scotland, before her marriage Mrs. Closs was Annie Robb.

Mr. Closs is a shoe-cutter and pattern-maker by trade, serving his apprenticeship in St. Catharines shoe factory, Maybole. In 1911 he came to Canada to Hamilton, and in 1912 came to Aurora to work at the Sisman and Underhill plants, where he worked for many years, until forced to retire through ill health.

There were ten children born to them, six of whom are living. The family came to Aurora in 1912 and have lived here almost continuously except for a few years when the boys farmed on the second concession of Whitechurch.

"Aurora reminded us of our old home in Scotland when we first came here," said Mrs. Closs. "We have never regretted coming to Canada or Aurora. Canada is a land of milk and honey for those who are willing to work." Their six sons and daughters all live in Aurora, John on Kennedy St., James on Yonge St., Andrew and Joseph on Edward St., Mrs. Annie Summers on Victoria St., and Mrs. Joseph McGhee, on Yonge St.

There are 16 grandchildren. Both Mr. and Mrs. Closs have been strong Orange Protestants and followers of "the old Kirk" all their days. Mr. Closs was a member of the mother lodge of Scotland No. 85 before coming to Canada. Mrs. Closs is a past mistress and honorary member of Queen Mary L.O.B.A. She still attends practically every lodge meeting. Both are members of St. Andrew's Presbyterian church.

Mr. Closs from his earliest days has been an inveterate reader and student of politics and world events. He still finds solace with his beloved Scott, Burns, Shakespeare, Dickens and Victor Hugo. "There are no novels like them

CLIFF CHAPMAN WINS
THREE BICYCLING EVENTS

On Thursday night, the Aurora cycling club held a meet at Cousins race track with points to count in the standing for the Dawson trophy. Cliff Chapman, club champion, annexed all three events for a point total of 57 points. Bob Benville scored 23 points and Tom Raeside 12.

The results were: one mile, (time 2:35), Chapman, Hanson, Benville; one-half mile, (time 1:27), Chapman, Benville, Raeside; three-mile lap, Chapman, Benville, H. Foster and T. Raeside tied.

Club members are now sporting smart new blue and gold sweaters with a huge crest and the lettering "Aurora cycling club" on the front.

Today," he says. The politicians of today look Mr. Closs, who says "there's hardly a statesman among them." He blames short-sighted policies and uncertainty and indecision for our present position in world politics.

"They became soft-hearted and soft-headed," he says. He has confidence, however, in Winston Churchill and is confident that the empire will win the war. "We have the men and the brains and resources to trim them all again if we'll only use them," he says. He is an authority on English history.

Earlier in the week the ladies' auxiliary of St. Andrew's Presbyterian church presented Mrs. Closs with a beautiful bouquet of roses. On the same evening the members of Queen Mary L.O.B.A. gathered at the home of Mrs. J. McGhee, and following an evening of hospitality presented Mrs. Closs with a cameo pendant.

Many beautiful presents have been received from Toronto, Galt and Aurora, and from California came a hand-worked cushion for Mrs. Closs and a pen and pencil set for Mr. Closs from Mr. and Mrs. James Rowan, Mr. Rowan being Mrs. Closs' only sister, Mr. and Mrs. John Gillespie of California also sent their aunt and uncle a California pine guest book.

Mr. and Mrs. Closs have not been in too good health for the past few years. Mr. Closs being confined to his home with arthritis. The big wish for them both from their many friends is that they may be spared to spend many more years amongst their family and friends.

DOWN THE CENTRE

JEOPERS CREEPERS:

The Simcoe Softball circuit winds up tonight in Aurora and Newmarket and next Tuesday for Barrie and Richmond Hill. Aurora is the only club that cannot take down the first position by a win in the rest of the schedule.

A wire finish that would do credit to Larry McPhail or Conny Smythe is the present picture in Joe Spilllette's group. It's been a well finish, with all four remaining teams having their big moments. Richmond Hill are favorites, with many, especially in Newmarket, to take down the bunting, and with the finest pitching staff in the league Charlie Ryan's boys will take some beating. Bennett, Stong and O'Dell are no pushovers at any stage. We're not venturing an opinion in this four-horse race.

All-star special comes out next week when Slaps, Pep and yours truly will do a little second guessing with the aid of the old crystal ball, an adding machine and some naturals.

My set-up isn't worked out yet, but we'll have a first and starting nine in any case. There are only one or two spots that present any difficulty. Camp Borden presents a stickler as I only saw them once and the airman failed to finish the schedule.

We intend to pass them up, although we did have a weak spot for Portlaid Smith, Hellman and Miller.

Feury-Bissell postponed their Elora trip on Saturday. It seems strange to see the dukes finding it difficult to field a team, and Aurora sports fans are going to miss a fine bunch of fellows, who for the most part, are slowly but surely heading to the banks of the Grand.

Huck Wilson did the ironman act the day following the postponement for the town leaguers, in an epic struggle with the Fifth Liners, (not columnists) from the wilds of King township. They meet again this week, you know where and when.

"Nuggets" Shore has chalked up five straight triumphs in the Wanless Park senior loop. He still has the old Newmarket jinx on him, as he lost a tight pitcher's battle with Wes. Niles 3-1 last week. The score might easily have been reversed, but for the breaks. Niles, incidentally, seldom has been any better. His fast one was a dab and in the clutch spots he was cool as a cucumber. Next time out against the Hill he was lucky to pull out a win.

Ace's Juniors are officially admitted to the O.A.S.A. play-downs, but no news is forthcoming as to their likely opponents in the first round. The following players are on the list of junior players: Craig McKenzie, Eric Bilborough, Bob Hillis, Russ. Rawlings, Wyatt "Nibs" Saigle, Bill Thompson, George Hodgins, Harvey Fingold, "Nipper" Armstrong, Sam Walker, Ray Lloyd, "Pepper" Jennings.

Tonight finds Richmond Hill here to close the regular schedule and as the game is vitally important to both outfits the fans should turn out in large numbers.

Attendance at Newmarket has dropped considerably. Barrie plays to a handful usually, and Richmond Hill is not drawing too well. Aurora gets a fair crowd but take is down because so many people jump the fence or drop in at the diamond when the pressure is off at the gate. It's time for the old padlock law to be used.

ENGLISH REFUGEES VISIT IN AURORA

First refugees from the motherland to reach this district were Mrs. Michael Gold of "Hedson Farm," Buckinghamshire, England, and her two young daughters, Meriel, aged 5, and Belinda, aged 4.

They have been the guests for some days of Mrs. John Coulson, "Garlands," Aurora. The family intend to remain in Canada for the duration of the war and this week left for Muskoka. Mr. Gold is a lieutenant with the Imperial cavalry and is stationed in Palestine. Mrs. Coulson's husband is serving his country, too, being with the Toronto Scottish.

Awatled anxiously by her relatives is 11-year-old Dawn Walker of Chatham, England, who will stay in Canada for the war time, being her cousin, Mrs. Ivan Dunlop, and her uncle and aunt, Mr. and Mrs. James Goulding, Connaught Ave. Dawn's father is an officer with the royal navy and her mother, who is Mr. Goulding's youngest sister, will remain in England. Dawn has been in Wales for the past few months.

SISMAN'S SCORE IN ROUND-ROBIN 9-8

In their first start in the town league round-robin play-off series, Sisman's took the hill to undefeated Town team 9-8, scoring the tying and winning runs in the last half of the seventh, as the towners' defensive forces slipped.

Harry Rouse and Willie Bone were the opposing hurlers. Rouse received splendid support from Milne, McKenzie and Len Holman, all of whom made sparkling plays. Bone shaded his opponent in the early innings, but weakened at the end. Pattenden and Reg. Lloyd were the fielding stars for Harry Sutton's crew.

PREACHES AT THORNHILL
Rev. E. J. Thompson of the Aurora United church preached the induction sermon at Thornhill last Thursday evening when the Rev. Eldridge Curry, a former Newmarket boy, lately of Gore Bay United church, assumed the pastorate of Thornhill United church.

ELECT SIX NEW STEWARDS TO CHURCH BOARD

Following the service at the United church on Sunday morning, six new stewards were elected to hold office on the board of the church, to make a total of 10 composing the board. Those named were J. H. Knowles, A. M. Kirkwood, Dr. C. J. Devins, B. F. Davis, Dr. G. W. Williams, and W. J. Sisman. The present stewards were J. Crockett, W. J. Knowles, J. Walker and J. Faris.

George and Bruce Davis, Harold Neilly, and last but not least, Eugene "Joint" McComb.

There is a team that has real potentialities, if they get practice together and a little coaching. Rawlings, McComb, Hills and Bill Rawlough will likely be the hurling staff, but all four boys can hit and will doubtless fill in elsewhere when not on the rubber. Lloyd and Armstrong can really travel with the fastest in the outfield. The infield and catching staff are the parts that will need special attention to straighten out.

Schomberg, last year's O.R.S.A. champions, are up to their old tricks again and in the best-of-five series with King City took the opener 8-2 on Tuesday night. They met in the second game tonight. Ken Ellison and Bill Sutton were the winning battery over the Walker Brothers, who were on the points for King. The rural loop started with six teams, Schomberg, Colgan, Beeton, King City, Bolton and Kleinburg. Schomberg finished out yet, but we'll have a first and starting nine in any case. There are only one or two spots that present any difficulty. Camp Borden presents a stickler as I only saw them once and the airman failed to finish the schedule.

Editor, The Era:

I don't just know what to say, as I am not much of a hand at writing, but here goes. First, I will introduce myself. I am a gunner of the 1st Med. Reg. R.C.A.—C.A.S.F. and my home is in Toronto. I receive your paper through a friend of mine from Aurora.

It appears to me that you are very much interested in men that have left Aurora to serve overseas. Well, there is one you have missed, simply because he never writes to friends about what he does or is doing. That person is Gnr. Bone S.

When he joined the artillery for the first time, he knew nothing about guns or handling a gun crew. Now, a short while after, he is a Bombardier, and you all know that promotion in times like these is really something to be proud of. I'm sure his friends would like to know. He is a swell guy, and that, coming from one of his gunners, is really something.

I enclose one of his snaps, taken in Northumberland (on the ranges), which I had to steal out of his kit.

Yours truly,
P.S. Give my best regards to all of his friends.

Bombardier Oliver is another lad with us whose head may be seen in the lower corner of the snap. He also is an Aurora lad, who, before the war, worked at St. Andrew's College. They are a great pair of lads.

UXBRIDGE DEFEAT
AURORA TO TIE SCORE

Striking back hard on their own courts, Uxbridge tennis club defeated Aurora 5-2 in a series of club matches which left both teams tied for first place and a needed play-off for the group championship.

Aurora was only able to take the mixed doubles and the men's A doubles. Connie Willis and Delroy Babcock taking the former, and Lees Owsom and Stan Walker the latter event.

The club played the final matches of the group against Richmond Hill last night.

EVERSLEY GIVES ILLUSTRATED ADDRESS ON BRITAIN

Eversley Church has been partly re-decorated and cleaned and proved a quiet, reverent background for the communion service held last Sunday morning. Rev. M. E. Burch officiated in his capable manner by just the right message, given in the right way. The choir sang "Tis Midnight."

Mrs. Chas. Cohen had her tonsils removed last Tuesday, and all hope her health will steadily improve.

Mr. Shropshire is still confined to his bed by the doctor's orders, as when he is going around he is too energetic. It is hard for an active farmer to keep from working in the busy summer time.

Mr. Scott Ferguson is now employed as an instructor at Malton airport. He, Mrs. Ferguson, and his mother, Mrs. Isa Ferguson, of Richmond Hill, were at 'Scots Wha Hae' on Sunday. They brought with them Mrs. Dickinson of Saint John, N.B., to visit her friend, Miss A. A. Ferguson. Mrs. Dickinson is visiting her brother, Mr. Bloomfield Jordan, of Richmond Hill.

Eversley W.M.S. held their July meeting in the church on Tuesday night. It was a perfect night. The church was nicely filled, and the program excellent.

Rev. J. C. Ross of Bolton gave a wonderful address, illustrated by a large number of slides, showing views of places visited while he and Mrs. Ross visited Britain a few years ago.

Mr. Ross has a delightful Irish wit, and interspersed his remarks with jokes. He sang "The Irish Jaunting Car" and "The Mountains of Mourne." He has a surprising memory for figures, i.e. it required 70,000 gallons of paint to give the last coat to the S.S. Queen Mary—the boat on which they travelled to England, returning in the boat in which the King and Queen came to Canada.

Miss Marie Ball gave two recitations and little Nancy Ball sang a sweet little missionary hymn. Rev. M. E. Burch assisted with the slides and Miss Ferguson presided.

The community welcomes Dr. Armitage, the new veterinary in King township, and his wife and Mrs. Armitage's aunt to King and Eversley church.

KING CITY

BREAKS SEVERAL RIBS IN FALL FROM WAGON

The community is sorry to hear of Mrs. Ed. Kyle's illness. Mrs. Kyle is in the Western hospital, Toronto, where she underwent an operation last Thursday. Everyone is glad to know she is getting along as well as possible.

Mrs. Harry McBride was admitted to the Western hospital, Toronto, on Sunday, where she had an operation for appendicitis. Her condition is reported as favorable.

Harvey Follitt fell last week off a wagon and broke several ribs.

Mr. Ken. Davis is home from Timmins for two weeks' holidays.

Mr. Charles Gates, who is in Trenton, spent the weekend at his home here.

Mr. and Mrs. John Lawson and Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Hollingshead spent the weekend on the hundred mile cruise in Georgian Bay.

Mrs. Douglas Davis and Ken. and Mrs. Pinder, her sister, and Miss Ruth Pinder of Sharon took a cruise trip on Georgian Bay on Friday.

Rev. Mr. Galloway of the Baptist church was among the leaders at the boys' camp at Sibbald's Point and Rev. D. Davis was dean of the camp.

Among the boys who attended camp from King were: Roy Winters, Jimmie McDonald, Donald Jenkins, Lloyd Kinney, Donald and Douglas Davis.

On Sunday, at about two o'clock, a car went in the ditch on concession 4, by George Rumble's gate. The car was badly wrecked as it turned completely upside down. No one was injured.

SCHOMBERG

DISTRICT CHURCHES JOIN ANGLICAN PICNIC

Several residents are working at present in Camp Borden. D. A. Wauchope, T. Cronin and F. Cantelon are all working at carpentry.

Mrs. W. L. McGowan and her sister, Mrs. E. Carter, and son, Lorne, spent the weekend at Innisfil Park, Lake Simcoe.

Mr. and Mrs. E. Marchant and Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Marchant spent last Sunday in Toronto, the guests of Miss E. Bond and Mr. Perry Bond.

Dr. Eric Dillane of the Canadian Army Medical Corps has returned from Ottawa, where he was taking training and spent Sunday with his parents, Dr. and Mrs. M. K. Dillane.

Mr. and Mrs. Morrison and family are on a two weeks vacation. Mr. Morrison is manager of the Royal Bank here.

The Anglican church held its annual congregational picnic last Friday at Innisfil Park. The churches at Kettleby and Nobleton joined with the Schomberg church for this happy get-together and outing. The weather was favorable and both young and old enjoyed a good day's fun, both in and out of the water.

TALENT HELP CHURCH

The garden party and church supper held by the Women's Association of Keswick United church on Wednesday evening, July 17, was an outstanding success.

The delicious salad supper was served from 5 o'clock D.S.T. till the concert began. The arrangements for the supper were in the charge of Miss Eva Gilroy. To Mrs. McGenerty, the president of the Women's Association, Miss Gilroy and all her helpers, the credit of the success of the supper is due.

Miss Joan Baines, Miss Marjorie Glover and Miss Doris McGenerty conducted the very attractive booth where homemade candy, ice-cream and cold drinks were sold.

W. Davison and Orville King were in charge of the program.
Mr. Startup also helped with the program, which was varied and very entertaining. Rev. Gordon Lapp, who was chairman, opened the program with prayer, followed by the singing of "God Save the King."

Mrs. Ray, Mrs. Best, Miss Richardson, Miss McMaster, the Dew sisters, Mr. Lloyd, Charlie Milestead, Isaac King, Kenneth Morton, Miss Lillian Connell and a number of the younger girls were the entertainers.

Mr. Lloyd convulsed the audience, especially the younger members, with his splendid character selections, which he gave in costume. At the last he gave a selection about "a bad little boy and a bent little pin," especially for his younger listeners. Miss Richardson and Miss McMaster from Bondhead gave beautiful duet performances on the piano.

Charles Milestead played old and popular airs on his musical saw. Mrs. Ray, a radio artist, sang beautifully and Mrs. Best played and gave a splendid rousing rendering of patriotic readings to her own accompaniment on the piano. The Dew sisters, young girls who hope to be on the radio soon, played a generous number of popular and patriotic selections on their very pretty accordions.

Isaac King and Kenneth Morton gave appropriate vocal selections, which were greatly appreciated by their listeners. Miss Lillian Connell, who has an unusually clear and sweet voice, sang "There'll always be an England," the audience joining in the chorus. A number of the younger girls put on a delightful chorus and play, "The Way Grandfather and Grandmother Ate." The program closed with the singing of "O Canada."

Mr. and Mrs. Jack Draper and Mary Draper, who reside near London, Ontario, were visiting Mr. and Mrs. Fisher over the weekend.

Mr. Gladstone Marritt of Hamilton was visiting his father,
Mr. William Marritt, this week.

Mr. and Mrs. William Smith, from near Washington, D.C., visited Mr. and Mrs. Frank Marritt recently. Mrs. Smith is a cousin of Mrs. Marritt.

Hong Kong government as an engineer and surveyor of ocean-going vessels leaving the British port.

Sunday with his cousin, Gordon
Rynard.

Mrs. Smith and Miss Heffernan of Guelph, who have been spending their holidays at the Rynard farm, returned home on Sunday.

Miss Helen Rynard of Toronto, who has been home for three weeks, returned to the city Sunday evening.

Miss Dorothy Ferguson had a friend from Georgetown visiting her for a few days.

The garden party held at Mr.
and Mrs. A. S. Arnold's home was a decided success. The weather was all that could be desired. The program was first class, and a large crowd attended. The proceeds were very satisfactory. Many thanks go to Mr.
and Mrs. Arnold for the use of their excellent grounds.

PERENNIALS

By GOLDEN GLOW

I missed the Peony show on June 22, but I am glad to say that I saw the perennials, and for variety and beauty we must admit our perennials make a grand show.

Maybe it isn't as delightful as the Peony show, or as spectacular as the Gladioli, but our very soul is woven into the fibre of perennials, for they are the backbone of every garden! The perennials that year after year greet us with their smiling faces in the same spot in our beloved gardens! From early spring to late in the fall, when Jack Frost nips our flowers, and lays low our borders, we have a continued succession of bloom.

From the early flowering bulbs and the Bleeding-Heart, Lily-of-the-valley, English violets, Sweet

Rockets and so on, right through to that sturdy sunny flower we call Japanese sunflower, not knowing its correct name.

The Lupins and the Foxgloves
(I think all the flowers deserve capital letters!), the Campanula or Canterbury Bells, the Delphinium, the Shasta Daisy and the perennial Coreopsis (and how I do love it!)
the Galliarda, red and orange and the dainty Achillea, to say nothing of the Camomile (Feverfew) and the Hollyhock, the perennial Primrose, and the Sweet William.

Well, bless my heart, I didn't realize when I started to write about perennials how many different varieties we have, and I can think of heaps and heaps more, for each and all are so lovely!

But, you see, I was just thinking of them in the order in which they bloom. Some of what I have named are over, and some blooming, while there are many still to flower. The Baby's Breath and the Achillea are out now, and the Forget-me-nots still have a few sky-blue flowers and the perennial Candytuft, and the Dianthus, those dainty flowers we call "Pinks"—well, would you believe it, I left out Oriental Poppies?

And we have Iceland Poppies as well, and California Poppies.

Dear me, and I haven't even mentioned the autumn perennials and I can still think of other summer ones. If I keep on, you'll think I am a flower catalogue.

But what about all the lovely rock garden varieties? The pretty blue Flax, "Blue were her eyes as the fairy Flax that blooms in the month of May," as it says of the captain's daughter in "The Wreck of the Hesperus." And also in the rock gardens are the different colored sedums or Stonecrop, and the Violas, the perennial Pansies that we used to call "Johnny-Jump-ups."

Then back to borders again, we have Scarlet Lightning with each flowerlet in the shape of a "fairy cross." It is out now, and there was a grand display at the flower show. Is it what we call Beesbalm, or is that the flowering Bergamot?

I must ask Mr. Stephenson, who has the lovely garden up near the fair grounds, for he has every known flower I am sure, and I feel confident he knows them all by name.

And soon now our autumn flowers will be starting. I have a huge clump of Golden Rod and you never saw such a glory as it is when it flowers—it surely did respond to cultivation!

Then the Golden Glow is starting (my name-sake) and the perennial Phlox—and, of course, all the Lillies, the lovely Lillies, the Madonna and the Regal and the Tiger Lily and a host of others.

Then the Roses, but they come under shrubs, don't they? Dear me, I am getting myself involved and tangled up. But the autumn perennials—I can't stop before mentioning them, the Phlox, as I said, and the Chrysanthemums, the Michaelmas Daisies and the Helenium.

Now I wonder why we call the Helenium the sneezeweed? (It makes you think of Snow White and the Seven Dwarfs and the one she called "Sneezele!") But then so many of our flowers have "pet names." If we called Baby's Breath by its real name, Gypsophilla, and Bleeding-Heart by its name, Dicentra or Deletia and the Hollyhock by its aristocratic name of Althaea, I'm sure we would not think half so much of them, now would we?

In the first place we have to check up on our spelling (please don't check me up, I'd probably get pretty poor marks and be relegated to the foot of the class!)
and then you know children can't get their tongues around those big names, and we want children to learn to love the flowers and take an intelligent interest in them as young as we can get them interested.

And I must not end this without telling of some of the wonderful perennials at our show last Saturday night, for I am sure Newmarket stands high in horticulture, and Saturday night's show, while not perhaps up to the usual standard as to quantity most certainly had quality.

The most outstanding of all was a huge basket of delphiniums, of every shade known to delphiniums, and I do not think I am exag-gerating when I say some of them must have been five or even six feet tall! Such perfect blossoms too, so round and full from the bottom to the top. They were a marvel to all beholders, and I did hear that even the judge, himself a grower of delphiniums, said he had never seen anything to equal them.

I think honor where honor is due applies here, so I shall not hesitate to proclaim to the world that they were grown by an estimable citizen, Howard Hugo.

That basket, together with Mrs.
E. Brammer's Madonna lilies and Royal lilies and Miss Newton's stalk of some tiny orange lilies under "Lily, any other kind" were a feature of the show. There were samples of every kind of perennial in flower at present. Sweet Peas and Pansies and Roses as well, and decorated luncheon tables.

A jar of golden perennial Cor-eopsis shone in the lamp-light like the pot of gold at the foot of the rainbow! The delphiniums occupied long tables the length of the room. One jar of Campanula was lovely, the cup and saucer Canterbury Bells of a delicate pink shade. It really was a splendid flower show.

RED CROSS FAIR

ber was ticket No. 303, held by Robert Rank.

The grounds were picturesquely decorated with pennants, streamers, tall standards, and colored lights, and the booths were strategically placed in a lovely avenue.

Max Boag and his orchestra played from a decorated bandstand in front of the high school for the dance. Previous to the start of the dance the Aurora boys' band, under the direction of Robert Moore, gave a splendid band concert.

The booths were a hive of activity all evening and so great was the demand that they were practically forced to hang out the "sold out" sign before closing time.

Frank Griffiths and his Hayabers provided music from the booth of the co-operative women's guild.

The United church and St. Andrew's Presbyterian church handled the food concessions. The Baptist church had a sewing and handicraft booth, Mrs. N. Eade and Mrs. H. Aldrich a white elephant booth and the Women's Institute handled soft drinks, ice-cream, etc.

A fish-pond for the children was in the charge of the parochial guild of Trinity Anglican church. The Rebekah lodge had three expert tea-cup readers, Mrs. H. Hulme, Mrs. W. Starkey and Mrs. H. Squibb, busily engaged all evening. P. J. Whytock of Eaton Hall farm handled the coin game.

Queen Mary L.O.B.A. the silver mine, the Girl Guides sold candy, while numerous prominent business men vied with the best midway barker in luring the crowd to the coconut shy and the other games.

ASK FOR VACATION HOMES FOR CHILDREN

In addition to the children and mothers sent each summer to Camp Bolton, the Neighborhood Workers Association strives to provide holidays for some 1,200 children, who, for various reasons cannot be sent to camp.

Through the country home department these children are sent to homes within a radius of 150 miles from Toronto. The Neighborhood Workers Association pays all transportation costs but no board is paid. Persons living in the country, who have room in their home for one or two children, generously co-operate with the N.W.A. by taking city children for a two weeks vacation period free of charge.

It is not expected that the hostess will lay out any elaborate plan of entertainment for the child. Any home that can offer a garden—or a nearby green field (practically unknown to many children who live in the factory areas) three plain, nourishing meals a day, and a comfortable bed, can be a happy holiday spot.

Holiday homes need not be any great distance from the city. Even homes on the outskirts of Toronto can provide unbelievable pleasure for children who live in the crowded downtown areas.

Pressing need of the Neighborhood Workers Association at present is to locate farm homes where boys from eight to twelve years of age can realize their dream of "living on a real farm."

Hostesses of previous years have, in a great many cases, invited back to their homes the children who visited them last year. Also, there is very little difficulty in placing small children around four to seven years of age. But there are hundreds of children over seven—many of whom are called upon to bear heavy responsibilities in their homes—who are in need, and very deserving of a vacation.

Letters of invitation should be addressed to the Neighborhood Workers Association, Country Homes Department, 22 Wellesley St., Toronto. They should state clearly how many children are invited; the age and sex preferred, and give details of the best transportation route, and where the children will be met; also a letter of reference from the minister of their church.

All children are medically examined before leaving Toronto.

FLIES AND GOOD HEALTH CANNOT EXIST TOGETHER

The diseases and maladies that can be attributed to the common house fly can hardly be overstated. It has been proven, through laboratory tests, that more than 30 different disease organisms are carried by these pests. Also, that the bacteria on the hairy body of a single fly is sufficient to infect an entire household.

Yet, in spite of warnings by medical authorities, many people far too often accept the fly's existence and tolerate its presence as an inevitable nuisance during sunny days and warm weather.

Every year, unfortunately, we pay dearly for this indifference with outbreaks of infectious diseases for the simple reason that these germ carriers, born and matured in filth, eventually transmit this filth to drinks and food left uncovered. Summer dysentery and other infant maladies can often be traced to ordinary house flies.

A very effective, convenient and inexpensive method is to trap the flies with fly pads. Three or four of these, placed in strategic points throughout the house, will work quickly, cleanly and kill all the flies. This protection should start with the first sign of the fly season and continue throughout the summer months.

If every home and eating place adopted this precautionary measure, much would be accomplished in banishing the menace to our health—and thus make the community a safer, cleaner place to live in.

They'll Teach Him New Tricks
The fond mother wrote to her son who was on military service:

"I hope that you have now learned to get up punctually every morning so that you do not keep the whole battalion waiting for breakfast."

TWO CENTS SEPARATE POOR, RICH—DR. BOYD

The regular weekly meeting of the Youth Group was held in the Salvation Army Hall on Friday evening. The meeting was managed by the educational group under the leadership of Mary Henry.

Guest soloist for the evening was Donald Galbraith, Aurora, who sang two solos, "Did you think to pray?" and "I will protect you."

The town's first citizen, Mayor Dr. S. J. Boyd gave a helpful educational talk on citizenship.

"One of the chief characteristics of a good citizen is sportsmanship," began Dr. Boyd. "If you are a good sport, you are not offended easily. If you are not a good sport you are continually grumbling about everything going on in town. This does not make a good citizen."

"To be a good citizen, especially as young people, always learn to pay your debts. A person who has the reputation of always paying his debts has a very good reputation. There is only two cents difference between being bankrupt and unhappy and being a good financier and therefore always happy. If out of every dollar you earn, you spend no more than 99 cents, you will always have your debts paid and always have money on hand. If you live within your means, you are always happy. Now suppose you spend $1.01 for every dollar you earn, then you are in debt. This gradually leads to bankruptcy and worries of all kinds. Learn to be a good financier, thus, to be a good citizen."

"You must belong to some church and attend its services to be a good citizen. You must have a religious inclination. All the good things we now handle are a result of the lives of our religious forefathers. Be connected with a church and be a good citizen."

"You have heard people say, 'His word is as good as his bond.' This truthfulness is a good quality in anyone. If you have a friend whom you can trust, you know you are friends with a good citizen.

"Charity covers a multitude of sins, but makes up the character of a good citizen. Charity is a desire to help and to give, not because you hope to be paid back, but because you are doing a kindness. This is a quality we can all exercise, either rich or poor. If you have no money you can give, you can always sympathize and help by doing something for the distressed or bereaved."

"Charity in itself makes a person a first-class citizen," concluded Dr. Boyd.

Readers place classified advertisements. The Era's large volume of classified advertisements corresponds to The Era's large number of readers. No other local medium is so widely read.

"And has your baby learned to talk yet?"

"Oh, yes. We're teaching him to keep quiet now."

Needs Must Advertise!

The United States government has in readiness for use at any time posters carrying this old message, "Your country needs you!" Washington also has ready the copy for similar newspaper advertising to be released in haste in case of a declaration of war. In fact, a large-scale newspaper campaign urging men to serve their country in the active service branches is kept in constant readiness by the U. S. department for war as just as necessary as arms and armaments.

Strange, isn't it, when you remember that there is also a United States conscription law which would by lottery give Uncle Sam all the men he needed? Somebody wasting money on needless advertising? What is the explanation?

The answer is that if war should come to the United States the advertising is calculated to create an attitude of mind which would greatly simplify the conscription job. Men, as a result of the barrage of advertising which would confront them, would serve more readily and willingly, and would co-operate with the government in making conscription a success.

It strikes us that this is the best illustration we have ever seen of what advertising does. It creates an attitude of mind. It breaks down resistance. It is informative and encouraging. It is used to cause people to do cheerfully and willingly even what they have to do.

It is true that people have to buy food anyway. They have to buy clothes anyway. They have to buy a new tire to replace the old one. Why, therefore, use advertising? Why should money be spent on advertising?

The answer is that advertising is just the dissemination of news, information, and appeals, creating attitudes, impulses and determinations. Advertising speeds up business, quickens factory output, wholesale and retail turn-over, keeps down the cost of production and improves the product.

Advertising makes a conscripted army a better, more efficient army, making the men feel that they have given their services rather than that the country has taken them. Advertising makes the public better, more intelligent buyers and direct buyers to the most alert merchandisers.

National advertisers are increasing their appropriation. Local merchants could well make a similar contribution to better business conditions. The Era is ready to help you with ideas, illustrations, lay-outs.
